Wagner Gives RFK Backing For Senate

'Would Make Fine Candidate,' Mayor Of New York States

NEW YORK (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy says he would not consider running for U.S. senator from New York without Mayor Robert F. Wagner's "express approval."

A few minutes after Kennedy made that statement Monday, Wagner said:

"If he is available, he is the type of person who would make an exceptionally fine candidate. I am sure that he would win.

"I have a high regard for him as a friend and as a public servant."

Asked whether his remarks constituted an endorsement, Wagner said:

"I think I've made a pretty strong statement already."

Wagner said he would not say more until he had talked again with Kennedy. Kennedy visited Wagner last Friday. No further meeting has been announced.

The Democratic nominee will face Republican Sen. Kenneth B. Keating.

Kennedy, here Monday to speak at the convention of the American Bar Association, was asked by newsmen about the Senate race.

One of his replies was: "Under no circumstances would I ever have considered, or would I now consider, coming into the State of New York against the wishes of the mayor."

Wagner is generally considered the top Democrat in New York.

Democratic state chairman William H. McKeon said he would "certainly encourage" Kennedy's candidacy. He said the attorney general would "make an excellent candidate."

Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, who has wide backing upstate for the Democratic nomination for senator, said Wagner assured him Monday night that he "had certainly not endorsed . . . Kennedy and did not intend to endorse any candidate" before the nominating convention Sept. 1.

Stratton said: "The attorney general has already removed himself from the race and I take him at his word." This may have been a reference to a declaratoin by Kennedy last June when he declined to run for the office.

At that time, President Johnson had not ruled out Kennedy and other Cabinet members as possible vice presidential candidates.

Passage of LBJ's Antipoverty Bill Expected Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is expected to get his antipoverty bill from Congress today, in time to rush some of its programs into operation during the fall political campaign.

Senate sponsors of the $947.5-million measure abandoned plans to move against what they called a disturbing loyalty oath and governors' veto provisions inserted by the House before it passed the bill Saturday.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, the assistant Democratic leader, said that "while we don't like some parts of it, we're going to take the House bill in order to get moving on this program."

Sen. Pat McNamara, D-Mich., said in a separate interview he had become convinced that if the Senate, which passed its version July 23, sent the measure to a Senate-House committee, it might die there when Congress adjourns.

"We've got to take the House bill," he said. "It's the only way we can get one."

The House measure included a provision that all individuals receiving government payments must sign non-Communist affidavits. Such a provision in the National Defense Education Act caused some colleges to reject government aid and it eventually was repealed.

The House also inserted a provision, rejected by the Senate, giving governors a veto in their states on aid to community, as well as privately financed, antipovery projects. The governors also could block establishment of the proposed job corps in their states.

The antipoverty measure represents Johnson's major on-his-own legislative achievement since he became president last November. Most of the other domestic measures sent to him by Congress were proposed originally by the late President John F. Kennedy.

Once it becomes law, the measure will authorize widespread activity by the government in several fields. Johnson included these expenditures in his budget and the actual money is expected to be provided in a supplemental appropriations bill.

The measure authorizes $412.5 million for programs aimed at increasing the education, training and work experience of young men and women. This includes establishment of a job corps in which youths in the 16-21 age bracket would be assigned to conservation camps or resident training centers.

Under the bill's terms, the government would finance part-time employment for college students and for youths who want to complete their secondary schooling or take vocational training.

The measure authorizes ap-

Johnson Signs Resolution on Southeast Asia

President Says Statement Shows Where U.S. Stands

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has signed the congressional resolution supporting his actions in Southeast Asia and says he hopes it is read around the world as it states plainly "where America stands."

"To any armed attack upon our forces," said the President, "we shall reply.

"To any in Southeast Asia who ask our help in defending their freedom, we shall give it."

With military and congressional leaders grouped around him, Johnson signed the joint resolution Monday with a couple dozen pens in the East Room of the White House.

Noting its quick and almost unanimous passage in both houses of Congress, Johnson remarked, "The unanimity of the Congress reflects the unanimity of the country."

Johnson recalled he had asked for the resolution approving his actions after ordering American naval forces last Tuesday to send air strikes against North Vietnamese PT boats and bases in retaliation for attacks on American destroyers in the Gulf of Tonkin.

"This resolution," he added, "confirms and reinforces powers of the presidency. I pledge to all Americans to use these powers with all the wisdom and judgment God grants to me."

With passage of the resolution, he said, "our course is clearly known in every land.

"There can be no mistake, no miscalculation, of where America stands or what this generation of Americans stands for."

He said in Southeast Asia "there is nothing we covet, nothing we seek. Our one desire, our one determination, is that the people of Southeast Asia be left in peace to work out their own destinies in their own way."

The President repeated his unity theme in a White House luncheon with 200 businessmen.

Henry Cabot Lodge, leaving this weekend on a mission to appraise European allies of the Southeast Asian situation, told newsmen Monday "it is safe to assume" that North Viet Nam's leader, Ho Chi Minh, "is no a free agent."

He said he had to believe that North Viet Nam would not have attacked U.S. destroyers without first clearing it with Red China.

Disposition of Greek Troops Causes Tension

Turkish Air Force Continues Flights Over Island Nation

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — A deadlock between Turkey and Cyprus about Greek Cypriot troop dispositions on the northwest coast today menaced the peace restored shakily under U.N. auspices.

Turkish air force jets maintained reconnaissance flights.

Premier Ismet Inonu's Ankara administration was reported continuing military preparations to back up its demand that Greek Cypriot forces give up three Turkish Cypriot villages they have occupied since last Wednesday and withdraw from their encirclement of the port of Kokkina.

Cyprus' Foreign Minister Spyros Kyprianou declared the Greek Cypriot forces will never withdraw in the Kokkina area.

"Greek Cypriots are ready to die to the last man or win," Kyprianou told newsmen on flying to Athens for consultation with the Greek government about the latest crisis.

U.N. Secretary-General U Thant has said Turkey accepted unconditionally the appeal for a cease-fire, but Western diplomats in Ankara said it is insisting strongly that the coastal area be cleared of Greek Cypriot troops before the truce can be fully accepted.

These sources said the only compromise Turkey might be persuaded to accept would be for the captured villages to be turned over to U.N. troops instead of reoccupied by Turkish Cypriot forces. Unarmed Turks and refugees massed around Kokkina could then return to their homes under U.N. protection.

Cyprus remained jittery as Turkish Air Force jets contin-

Junior High Football OK'd

Southern Local Board Hires 8

Southern Local School District's first junior high football program to funnel grid talent into the varsity was approved by the Board of Education Monday night.

Six elementary and two high school teachers were employed with only an assistant football coach-general math teacher remaining to be hired before school starts in September.

Thomas Leek, high school principal, explained the seventh and eighth grade football plan drawn up by the athletic association, reporting the system would be ready to go into effect this fall with the board's permission.

The plan is to play six games under the lights. Schools have not yet been selected. James Russell of RD 1, Hanoverton, one of the eight new instructors hired, will have charge of the program.

Elementary teachers employed besides Russell were Mrs. Mary McPherson of RD 1, Salineville, Mrs. Maxine Dunlap and Mrs. Leah Johnson of Salineville, Kenneth Vuletic of Industry, Pa., and Miss Doris Christen of East Liverpool. John Dunlap of Lisbon and Robert Lowther of Wellsville are new high school teachers.

Executive head Jack Baker reported the coaching staff is now complete with the exception of an assistant grid mentor. Ed Oliver of East Liverpool, who has been named head football coach, will be reserve basketball coach and head track coach. His grid assistants will be Albert Girone and Russell.

Girone is head basketball coach with James Hanley in charge of freshmen.

Men were named to take charge of an intramural sports program going into effect this year. In charge will be Vuletic, No. 16 School; Tom Jones, Highlandtown; Luther Woodall, Wayne School; and Hanley, Salineville Elementary. Still to be named is a person in charge of Highlandtown School.

Paul Rankin of RD 1, Lisbon, was employed to drive bus in the Wayne School area.

In other action, the board agreed to buy milk for the Highlandtown and No. 16 Schools from the Russell Dairy in Wells-

Freeway Link At Liverpool Opened

The State Highway Department hopes to let bids for construction of the next phase of the Ohio River-Lake Erie freeway later this year, Earl W. Nelson of New Philadelphia, deputy director of the State Highway Department's Division 11, announced at the program Monday afternoon marking the opening of the northbound lanes of the freeway from the East Liverpool city limits to Route 170.

Traffic began rolling over the 1.8-mile section built at a cost of slightly more than $4 million within minutes after J. W. Wilson of Columbus, deputy director in charge of planning and programming, snipped a ribbon at the Liverpool city limits to open the limited access highway.

The brief ribbon-cutting ceremony followed a luncheon at the Travelers Hotel for city officials and representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, Lake Erie-Ohio River Highway Association, highway department and contractors' representatives when Nelson said plans are being prepared for all the remaining sections of the 97-mile-long freeway between East Liverpool and Ashtabula.

Paul Mossman of Youngstown, president of the highway association, a four-county organization of civic leaders, said the group is hopeful the entire highway between the river and the lake will be completed by 1969.

Nelson pointed out it is the third stretch of the freeway to be dedicated within the last two years. The city freeway was the first to be opened and a section near Ashtabula was dedicated about a year ago.

When completed, the cost of

Lisbon Meter Timers Changed

New Ones In Use; Police Commended

LISBON — More than 200 refurbished parking meter heads installed here this summer carried rebuilt timers rather than all new parts as promised.

Charles Lee, representative of Rockwell Mfg. Co., told village Council Monday night the mixup occurred somewhere on the plant assembly line.

He said replacement new timers were shipped here within 48 hours after Police Chief Leon T. Zahrndt called his attention to the error. He apologized for any inconvenience caused the village.

Police Capt. John Varner has changed approximately 100 of the timers so far. Lee remained in town several hours today to help change the others.

The new Park-O-Meter heads replaced meters installed by the company 15 years ago.

Pope Paul VI To Make First 'Copter Trip

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (AP)—Pope Paul VI sets a papal precedent today when he flies by helicopter from his summer residence to a religious commemoration at the Umbrian Hill town of Orvieto.

The 75-mile trip northward to the ancient cathedral town will be the first flight a pontiff has ever made by helicopter.

It also will be the longest trip Pope Paul has taken since he went to the Holy Land by jet plane last January.

The papal schedule in Orvieto included Mass marking the 700th anniversary of the start of the annual Corpus Christi feast day and a speech before he returns tonight to Castel Gandolfo.

Refrigerators Remain Children's Death Trap

CHICAGO (AP)—Last winter, Leamond L. Fuwell, 29, bought a new refrigerator and put the old refrigerator on the back porch of his apartment.

Because he has three children, aged 3 to 7, he tied the door shut with plastic-coated clotheslines.

Last Friday, three small children of George Hartman, 30, who lives in the basement apartment beneath the Fuwells, climbed into the old box. The door closed, the children died.

An epilogue to the short lives of Cynthia Hartman, 4, and her brothers, Joseph, 5, and Marty, 6, was written Monday. An inquest jury ruled that they died accidentally.

The inquiry established no evidence as to what happened to the rope Fuwell tied around the old refrigerator. Probably, at some time during the months the appliance sat on the back porch, someone needed the line for something else.

A Mass of the Angels will be said for the youngsters Wednesday.

The deaths pointed up a problem that affects children everywhere in the nation. It has not been solved despite federal legislation requiring push-out doors on refrigerators made since 1958, and state laws requiring that doors be removed from discarded refrigerators.

Fuwell's refrigerator had not been discarded. It was just idle, and stored on his property.

Each year, a dozen or more children die of suffocation in idle refrigerators. In 1962, the toll reached a high of 35.

The death-trap problem first became a widespread concern in the 1930s when old ice boxes were being discarded as the electric refrigerator was winning acceptance.

It surged again after World War II when resumption of civilian appliance manufacturing spurred a slough-off of over-age electric coolers.

Last year's boom in refrigerator sales again heightened the menace of abandoned boxes.

Eisenhower To Speak At GOP Confab

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower will be the main speaker Wednesday when Republican governors and gubernatorial candidates gather for a campaign strategy session with political and organizational leaders of their party.

Republican presidential nominee Sen. Barry M. Goldwater called the meeting. Others scheduled to attend include Goldwater's vice presidential running mate, Rep. William E. Miller of New York, and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Eisenhower will speak at a luncheon at 1 p.m. EDT, to be followed by a news conference.

A morning business session will be closed with participation limited to 38 GOP party leaders, including 14 governors and the same number of gubernatorial candidates.

Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton, who bitterly fought Goldwater for the presidential nomination at last month's GOP convention, is host for the meeting, although his duties are nominal.

New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, who at first opposed Goldwater for the nomination then withdrew in favor of Scranton, also plans to attend.

Three Held In Riot Death of Negro Woman

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Three white men were jailed on murder charges today while police sought a fourth in the fatal shooting of a Negro woman during race riots last March.

The arrests late Monday came through clues uncovered by Detective Sgts. Donald Coleman and Lee Coty while investigating an unrelated crime.

Held without bond were J. W. Rich, 21, Wayne M. Chessman, 21, and Elmer Kato, 19, all of Jacksonville.

They are charged with the March 23rd death of 35-year-old Mrs. Johnnie Mae Chappell. She was fatally shot in the stomach while searching for a lost wallet along U.S. 1. Several blocks away, police were then trying to quell rioters.

Coleman and Coty said Rich signed a statement saying he fired the fatal shot from a passing car. The officers said Chessman signed a statement saying he was in the car at the time.

A 22-caliber revolver, believed to be the death weapon, has been found, police said.

Racial unrest reached a violent stage here during spring demonstrations by Negroes demanding integration.

Racial tension eventually eased through the appointment of a biracial committee. Mrs. Chappell's death at the height of demonstrations was the only fatality.

Dr. Sheppard Okay After Operation

CLEVELAND (AP)—Samuel H. Sheppard was reported resting comfortably today following an operation for a back ailment a doctor said resulted from a scuffle Sheppard had in prison six months ago.

Sheppard underwent a 90-minute operation for a slipped disc Monday at Brentwood Hospital in suburban Warrensville Heights and should be hospitalized a week or 10 days.

"It was a rather large disc but everything went well," said Dr. Theodore F. Classen, hospital chief of staff. He and an orthopedic surgeon removed about a half inch of Sheppard's spinal chord, the doctor said.

Sheppard, described by doctors as having been in extreme pain for some time because of his back condition, entered the hospital Sunday. X-rays revealed a rupture on the right side of his body.

He is now free on bond from Ohio Penitentiary. A federal judge ruled last month that

Expansion of Vocational Education In Ohio Studied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The State Board of Education is considering a plan for a vast expansion of vocational education in Ohio schools which would include new types of training programs plus radical revamping of present ones.

The plan, if approved, would involve an added $43 million in federal, state and local funds during the next three years.

Byrl A. Shoemaker, director of vocational education, submitted the plan to the state board Monday for the State Department of Education.

The state board is expected to consider it officially at its Sept. 14 meeting.

One of the fundamentals of the plan is to provide whatever kind of training is needed to make a person employable rather than to go to school in order to obtain knowledge in certain courses, Shoemaker said.

The plan, if approved, will give first priority to constructing, remodeling and equiping area vocational school facilities, financed by 80 per cent of the anticipated $5.2 million in federal funds for the first year, plus state and local matching funds.

Afterwards, development of new programs and expanded enrollments would be emphasized, Shoemaker said.

Federal funds would total $7.2 million for 1965 and $9 million in 1966. Matching state or local funds would be required. Ohio now receives $2.2 million in federal vocational funds.

The state board must approve a vocational plan to participate in the recently approved federal program. Congress is expected to appropriate the added vocational funds shortly.

Both secondary schools and adults could use the new vocational facilities, which would make possible handling greatly increased enrollments. Shoemaker said Ohio's current enrollment of 47,000 high school students could almost double within two years.

The state board Monday postponed approving its plan to require centralized state purchasing of school buses which would require school districts receiving state funds to buy the bus body and chassis determined by the lowest bid in a state bidding procedure.

The board is expected to officially approve the plan at its September meeting, completing action on the proposal which has been held up for a year by litigation by body and chassis manufacturers.

A Cleveland Heights attorney, Robert J. Grogan, as seated as a new board member to replace William R. Monroe of Euclid, who resigned. Grogan, appointed by Gov. James A. Rhodes, will serve until an election is held in November 1965.

In other actions the board:

—Approved transferring 123 acres from Lexington Local (Richland County) to Mansfield and 156 acres from Washington Local (Miami County) to Piqua.

—Authorized the submission of 21 bond issues to voters which would exceed the 6 per cent of the local debt limitation.

—Served notice of intention to revoke the high school charter of Decatur-Washington Local (Lawrence County), effective June 30, 1965, on grounds of violating minimum school standards.

—Considitonally approved a state aid building projects for the Tallmadge city schools involving $330,900 in state funds.

—Authorized State Supt. of Schools E. E. Holt to advise the Athens City Board that it must apply for the re-chartering of Chauncey-Dover and the Plains high schools in order to continue to operate them while new facilities are constructed. Prior to consolidation, both charters had been revoked.

Girls with the Definite Maybe

Connie Francis is no taller than a stop sign, but she marches into a restaurant like a cross-town bus, with a screech of brakes and no nonsense, please. She's pretty. She's nice. And she knows the route.

Alan Gill

You've heard her singing things like "Who's Sorry Now?" and "I'm Sorry I Made You Cry" on the Sullivan-Welk-Como-Telephone - Benny - "Tonight" shows and she'll be showing up once again this fall with Jack Benny, singing a medley about the great stars she never saw ("I Was Born Too Late") and playing Em to Benny's Clem in a hillbilly sketch.

But that's as rustic as you'll ever find this terribly urban girl. In true city fashion, she speaks her mind with a most admirable directness. Like:

"I'm a lousy actress and I'll never be any good in a serious part because I never can behave in any way but the way I feel. Some days I'm 50 years old and when I try to be bouncy in front of the camera, it doesn't work. I envy people who can grin when they don't feel like it; and a good actress simply has to have that ability. In a club? Well, the audience and the music create a bouncing mood and sooner or later you get into it, too."

SHE FEELS AT HOME in comedy, though — the Doris Day variety rather than the Carol Burnett — and her comedic movie career is moving along nicely. Past: "Where the Boys Are" and "Follow the Boys." Present: "Looking For Love." On tap: "The Girl With the Definite Maybe."

But Connie Francis is a wee thing with no illusions about a career in musical comedy. "It's a sad business," she says, "if you're not on top. When I was 18, just as my first recording really caught on, I had decided I wouldn't waste another minute in this business. I'd go to medical school. Most singers have given up any last chance of being a scholar; they're not prepared for anything else in life but singing. And it's so sad, because success here is so ephemeral. There's only the remotest chance that it will hold up for the rest of our lives.

"And I feel sorry for the middle-aged performers who haven't hit the top but can't let go, either.

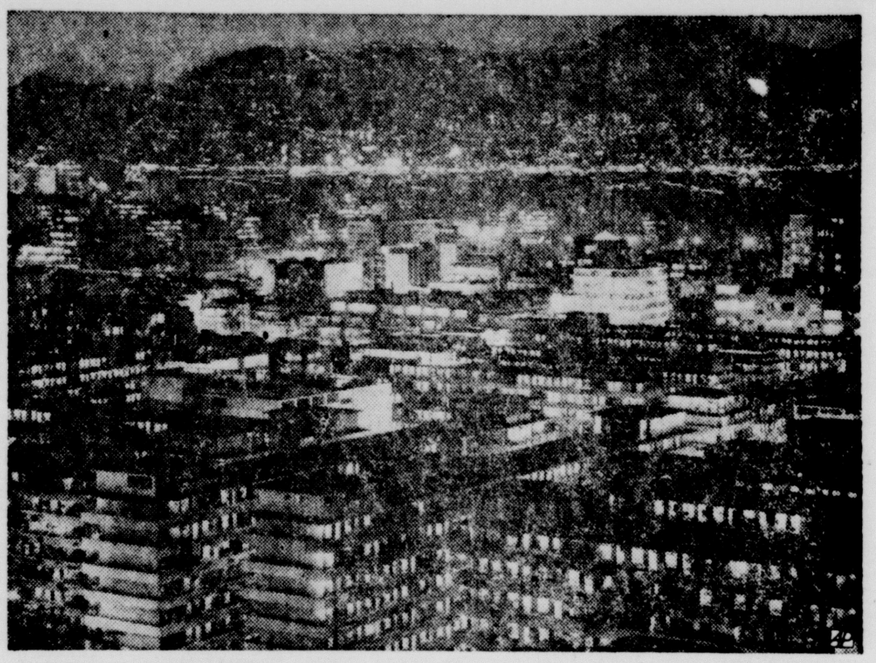

"The moment I find that I'll be earning less next week than I am this week, I'll make immediate plans for withdrawing from a business that's made almost exclusively for young people."

CONNIE, AT 25, is afraid of nothing the future offers, however. She is about to marry. (He is Dick Kanellis, a Las Vegas night club man.) She plans to make one movie a year. ("No man would tolerate a wife's being away more than that.") She will live at least half the time within 40 minutes of midtown Manhattan. ("I couldn't live without the hustle and bustle of this place.") She will play only the bigger clubs. ("The club must have a certain capacity so it can pay what I ask; I don't believe in squeezing the poor owner.") She will stear clear of the theater. ("Stage acting must be so extravagant, I can never feel part of it.")

And she will look after her business responsibilities with a wary eye. "Some artists," she says, "devote their whole existence to performing. I want to know what's happening." The action is going on in her four music publishing firms, her talent management firm, another company that cuts records for "major" labels. She is currently merchandizing a Connie Francis Lady Ballet (a woman's version of a silent valet) and putting together a how - to book on getting into show business.

OBVIOUSLY a lady with illusions, Connie Francis (born Constance Franconero in Newark, N.J.) is even matter - of - fact about her singing talent. "American singers," she says, "come from Philadelphia and New Jersey, because those places are near New York and because they have a heavy concentration of Italians. Germans are scientific. The English are literary. The Italians sing. My grandmother always sang to me. My mother sang. My father and my uncles all played musical instruments. And now I sing."

No illusions. And no wrong notes ,either.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT

Go to Mountains to Avoid Hay Fever

Hay fever is almost never caused by hay and is rarely associated with fever. In fact, if you have fever with it you should look for some other cause. For this reason we doctors prefer to call it allergic rhinitis.

Hay fever may occur at any time of the year because a great variety of allergens may cause it, but for most victims — and there are about 9 million in the United States-the attacks start in early August. Sneezing, running nose and reddened eyes for most sufferers are ushered in with the pollination of ragweed plants and the misery lasts until the first frost.

Dr. Brandstadt

THE EXACT DATE when the pollination of ragweed or any other allergenic plant starts varies in different parts of the country and will vary in the same part from year to year because of changes in the weather. An unusually warm summer will not only cause earlier pollination but will also increase the quantity of pollen in the air.

This is especially true if the hot weather is attended by an abundant rainfall. The date of the first frost is also subject to variation.

For those victims who want to have a vacation in a region where the ragweed pollen count is low, most of Canada can be recommended. Other favored spots include the area west of the Cascade Mountains in Oregon and Washington, the woods of northern Michigan, Minnesota New Hampshire and Maine the central Adirondacks region and the southern tip of Florida. Ocean voyages are also pollen-free and pleasant (for those who do not get seasick).

Your vacation should be scheduled, if possible, to coincide with the period of heaviest pollination in your community.

IT IS IMPORTANT to treat your hay fever by every means known because it so often paves the way for serious infections in the sinuses and the middle ear. But you never should attempt to treat this disease without medical supervision.

The most effective treatment is the taking of desensitizing injections before the hay fever season starts. This can be done only after careful testing has revealed what allergen or allergens are causing hay fever in you.

For temporary relief of symptoms one of the many antihistamines may be prescribed by your doctor. The effectiveness of these drugs is greatly enhanced if they are given in combination with methylprednisolone. Nose drops and nasal sprays are best avoided because of the rebound reaction that occurs when the shrinking effect on the mucous membranes wears off.

No Peace For Cyprus

Only one thing could get rid of the friction that has made Cyprus a cauldron of hatred for as many centuries as history has been recorded.

The island would have to be evacuated and its inhabitants dispersed according to their assorted desires — some to Greece, some to Turkey, some to other places.

This would be impossible. of course. Cypriotes are as fiercely loyal to Cyprus as Greeks are to Greece and Turks to Turkey. They would rather die fighting on Cyprus than live at peace somewhere else.

Greeks and Turks are fiercely loyal to their national groups on Cyprus. They share the hatred of Cypriotes.

Hatred is the central thread of history in Cyprus. It has run through the rule of the Assyrians, Persians, Egyptians, Romans, Byzantines, Lisignians, Venetians and the British.

It has been fed by the animosities of the residents of the islands and all the nations that have exploited Cyprus. The yearning for peace has been intermittent. The desire for revenge and retaliation has been constant.

THIS SHOULD BE remembered now.

The United Nations has a force of 7,000 soldiers on Cyprus to keep the belligerents apart. It is not large enough.

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization, to which both Greece and Turkey belong is the guarantor of peace among its members. That is not enough, either.

No one ever has quenched the fires of hatred between Greeks and Turks on Cyprus, or in the hearts of Greeks and Turks elsewhere when ever blood began to flow again in the Cypriot feud.

There is no reason to believe it will be changed — not by the United Nations, not by NATO, not by Greece, nor by Turkey, nor by the Republic of Cyprus.

It has been proposed that Cyprus be partitioned, as a means of keeping its factions separated. The proposal was rejected.

Even if partition could be arranged, the enemies would seek out each other and fall to fighting. Partition would solve nothing.

Only one hope remains, if the idea is to minimixe bloodshed among the Cypriotes. The United Nations would have to multiply its force on Cyprus until it was large enough to keep the inhabitants of the island under complete protective custody.

This could be done only at enormous expense, which the Soviet Union and other nations that hope to gain from Cypriot bloodshed would refuse to share.

The burden of the cost would fall on the United States, where the burden of all peace-keeping costs since the end of World War II has been placed.

Robert Kennedy's Image

There have been many times these last few years when his fellow countrymen have wondered what happened to Robert F. Kennedy's public image.

Instead of appearing to be a vastly talented young man with desire and aptitude for public service, blessed with an independent income and remarkable insight into politics, he has taken on the appearance of a political operator, working the angles and cadging votes at the expense of his personal dignity.

His primary interest, he said in Cleveland last Thursday, is to stay in government. He likes to be in public service, he declares, because it is what he was trained to do.

Yet, because it is known this is what he wants to do he encounters resistance. He is accused of pushing himself forward.

It is understandable why President Johnson did not want to perpetuate the Kennedy legend by running with John F. Kennedy's brother as the Democratic vice presidential candidate. But it is not understandable that so valuable a public servant as the hammer-and-tongs prosecutor of James R. Hoffa now should be on the defensive for even that attitude.

The truth is that Robert Kennedy is the protatype of the career public servant Americans supposedly are seeking—the well-educated, well-trained professional who can make the machinery of government operate effectually—the dedicated individual who wants to help his country.

But his public image as often as not is that of a ruthless operator trying to scratch and claw his way into places where he is not wanted. It is very strange.

Apathy Over CD

Civilian defense, an unpopular ostrich-like subject among most people, gets back in the topic of discussion whenever situations like Viet Nam and Cyprus develop.

But take any other peaceful day and a CD expert couldn't attract as much attention as a snowshoe salesman in Miami, Fla.

Nevertheless, the threat of a nuclear attack is ever present and Salem, like many cities its size, is unprepared! We have no authorized shelters and a sudden air attack would be a catastrophe.

Lt. Gen. George W. Mundy, USAF retired, speaking in Cleveland Saturday, declared 65 million American lives could be saved with a nationwide fallout shelter system, but few protective measures have been taken, in Salem or anywhere else. Are we expendable by reason of our own apathy?

A Name For Them

Statistical pulse-feelers were overjoyed last week when they learned the unemployment rate during July had gone below 5 per cent for the first time in four years.

But at 4.9 per cent, one of every eight teen-agers in the nation seeking a job was unsuccessful. Among Negro teenagers, one of four was unemployed.

Have the experts studied the direct relationship between unemployment and bad behavior?

Are they prepared to tell Americans that what is referred to as "juvenile delinquency" is frequently "juvenile uselessness"?

In big cities, particularly, idle hands find mischief. Theorists generate ideas about what should be done faster than their theories can be comprehended. But the inescapable fact is that nothing beats a job.

Juvenile delinquents are the youthful idle. If called by their right name, the problem they confront society with would be easier to understand.

4-H Achievements

This is the time of the year when outstanding 4-H club boys and girls are chosen to exhibit their handicraft in state and county agriculture exhibitions, the recent Selection Days in Columbiana and Mahoning counties having climaxed another season of project participation.

The public's admiration of these youngsters with initiative and purpose will swell anew when we view the 4-H exhibits at the county fairs soon to be held.

Uncontrollable

By Truman Twill

After high-prestige Republicans blasted my occupation at their party's national convention, I did some dee-dish thinking, along with thousands of others who work in communication.

We will remember for a long time the sight and sound ot those angry Republican delegates and their sympathizers in the San Francisco Cow Palace roaring and shaking fists at the press gallery and television booths.

I have been told by people who had gallery passes for the duration of the convention that this demonstration came at the end of a long-burning fuse. my informants described the antics of one supercharged dowager who had been shaking her fist at Huntley and Brinkley throughout the convention.

When former President Eisenhower made his crack about "sensation-seeking columnists and commentators," he unleashed the pent-up fury of people like her, who had gone to the convention already mad at the whole communications industry.

THAT IS WHAT I have been thinking about.

All of us in the communications industry learn early to expect the disapproval of everybody who disagrees with the way we do our job. That's par. Everybody is sure he could do the job better; i.e., were to his own liking.

What chills us is the outright opposition to the whole communications industry that creeps in occasionally—people who want to obliterate it.

Not that our occupation is sacroscant; it can be wrecked. But to wreck it would mean wrecking the nation.

The communications industry is essential. Its freedom from restrictive law is essential. It must be free to do its job as it sees fit, because in no other way can the people be sure of having access to facts.

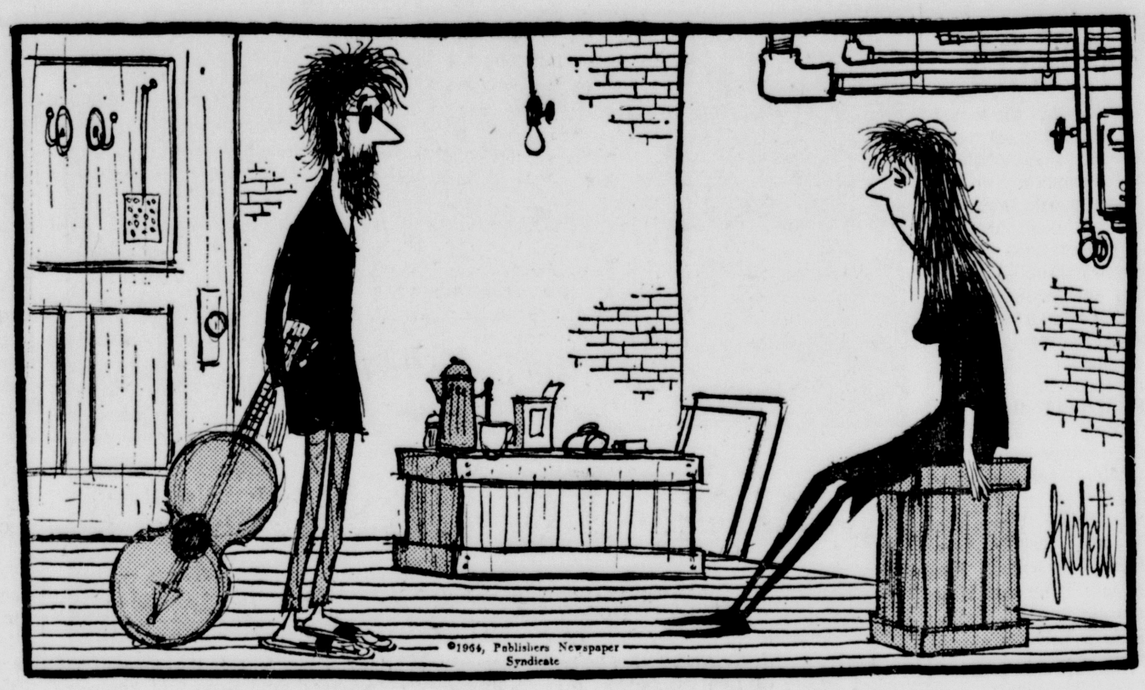

There will be facts some of them won't like. There will be opinions some of them will hate. But as long as freedom prevails, the truth will come out and opinion will have a chance to be heard.

IN THE ENTIRE range of enterprise, no occupational group has a higher sense of purpose and public service than people who report news and make judgments on current events. They are dedicated professionals. They aren't flawless, but who is.

This group compares favorably with the best of the ministry and the medical profession and is vastly superior to the law.

Instead of feeding the thoughtless animosity of people who instinctively try to destroy what they can't control, our leaders should be everlastingly thankful this vital element in the structure of freedom is uncontrollable.

If that changes, freedom will be phhhttt.

"I Must Be Coming Down With Something. I Feel Great"

U.A.R. Desert Socialism

By VICTOR RIESEL

CAIRO, U.A.R.

My camel's name was Rosie and the dragoman who hustled me onto the saddle and then had her gallop me past the pyramids into the desert is the tattered remnant of fast disappearing private enterprise in old Egypt.

Victor Riesel

President Gamal Abdel Nasser still permits the dragonmen to run their camels and small traders to make a profit, but the militarily-controlled government is swiftly wiping out capitalism. Some call this "desert socialism." But it is rather the destruction of businessmen and industrialists to prevent any independent thought or political opposition.

History has proved that counter-revolutions come from the middle class, not the bedraggled proletariat, and President Nasser wants to keep his own revolution intact.

Thus, virtually unnoticed by the peoples of the West, the powerful Arab leader, President Nasser, is setting a precedent for Moslem lands in which live over 300 million people.

IN EGYPT he has taken over all transportation, virtually all big industry, 85 per cent of all commerce, all foreign trade and is restricting the exit of his citizenry so that only a handful can leave the country.

Until recently it was possible for a land owner to operate 200 acres. This was changed to 100 acres, and then to 100 acres a family, regardless of the size of the family.

In effect, the government now owns everything of value ranging from the assembling of autos and TV sets to the newspapers. Under this brand of Arab socialism, President Nasser appoints a national association for each industry, i.e., textiles, publishing, department stores, hotels, household appliances, etc.

In turn, the association names four "management" men to a nine-man board to run each shop, mill, factory, store and newspaper.

The workers "elect" four others to the board and President Nasser names the chairman. These boards make all policy for the individual enterprise. They settle wages, hours, prices, packaging, models, products, production—everything.

IF THERE IS a disagreement, Mr. Nasser's chairman settles the quarrel, after first determining government policy.

Are there strikes? Well, yes and no. It depends on whom you ask. There are wildcat walkouts, but the national labor leaders hurry out to the plants to explain to the workers that, after all, the government now operates everything, and the government is the people, so why should the people strike against themselves.

If the wildcatters should continue to be so inconsiderate of this Egyptian socialism, there always is the army to settle matters.

Whether or not President Nasser realizes it, there is a touch of Peronism about all this. The Egyptian leader is putting his secondary power structure into the hands of his labor leaders.

He starts at the top by making cabinet members out of them. His minister of labor is Anwar Salama, former chief of the United Arab Republic Federation of Labor and ex-head of the oil workers.

THE CURRENT president of the oil workers union, who also doubles as the vice president of the UAR Federation of Labor, is Ali Said Ali. Nasser has made him a minister without portfolio and a member of the Joint Presidential Council of Egypt and Iraq.

I had a long talk with the present head of the labor federation, Ahmed Fahim, and asked him how a labor movement fares under such socialism.

Mr. Fahim, a genial fellow given to placing his hand on his heart and displaying anger only when the subject of Israel arose, explained that he can get "anything I want from the government."

He said he was one of the 185 labor and farm workers whom Nasser has placed in the National Assembly. Furthermore, he is a sort of Adam Clayton Powell because he is head of the labor committee in the assembly.

He pointed out that at least 25 per cent of all net profits in most businesses are given to the workers as a bonus at the end of the year. In the newspaper business, the bonus comes to 50 per cent.

There is a dues checkoff and unionism is compulsory for government employes.

THE GOVERNMENT favors this unionism because it channels all unrest through the unions, which are led by such loyal Nasser men as Fahim and Ali.

Thus it becomes apparent that the old Latin-American pattern is being used in the UAR. The army builds a labor movement and gives the people more than they had under the dissolute King Farouk, who had so many palaces he lost count of them. Capitalism is crushed. Free enterprise is routed. The chance of political or physical opposition is wiped out.

There is no doubt that this combination has given President Nasser absolute internal power. There also is no doubt the UAR leaders see this "desert socialism" as giving them the base for industrialization and militarization sufficient to crush the modern state of Israel.

In Egypt one is reminded of this in virtually every conversation. You come away sadly convinced that Nasser will attempt it—sooner than many think.

Political Paradox

By DAVID LAWRENCE

President Johnson created a strange paradox the other day when he announced that he would not select any member of his own Cabinet for the vice-presidential nomination. Yet if anything should happen to Mr. Johnson between now and inauguration day on Jan. 20 next and if the speaker of the House and the presiding officer of the Senate should be incapacitated or unable to serve, the present law states specifically that, beginning with the secretary of state, each member of the Cabinet is in line of succession to the presidency.

David Lawrence

Congress in the past has assumed that members of the Cabinet would be the kind of persons qualifed to take over the White House. Will the impression be conveyed now that not a single one of the 10 Cabinet members is capable of being vice president or President?

MR. JOHNSON in his public statement on July 30 used the following language:

"In reference to the selection of a candidate for vice president on the Democratic ticket, I have reached the conclusion that i twould be inadvisable for me to recommend to the convention any member of the Cabinet or any of those who meet regularly with the Cabinet in this regard. Because their names have been mentioned in the press, I have personally informed the secretary of state, Mr. Rusk, the secretary of defense, Mr. McNamara, the attorney general, Mr. Kennedy, the secretary of agriculture, Mr. Freeman, of my decision.

"I have communicated this to the United States ambassador to the United Nations, Mr. Stevenson, and the head of the Peace Corps, Mr. Shriver.

"In this manner, the race has been considerably narrowed. I shall continue to give the most thoughtful consideration to the choice of the man that I will recommend to the convention and I shall make my decision known in due course."

President Johnson didn't explain why it seemed to him "inadvisable" to recommend any members of his Cabinet. One inference is that he meant "politically inadvisable." If so, it raises a question as to whether the present method of selecting the president and vice president is concerned with meritorious qualifications of worthy individuals or only the devious of party politics.

ALSO, THE EPISODE emphasizes that national party conventions do not do the choosing for the vice-presidential candidates but take orders from the presidential nominee.

This form of dictatorship is a far cry from the boast in the history books that, under the American system of government the people always choose their president. It's true they vote for a particular ticket selected by a national convention of delegates but the second place is the dictated choice of one man.

It has occasioned widespread surprise that President Johnson didn't judge a single member of his Cabinet eligible for recommendation to the second spot on the Democratic party ticket.

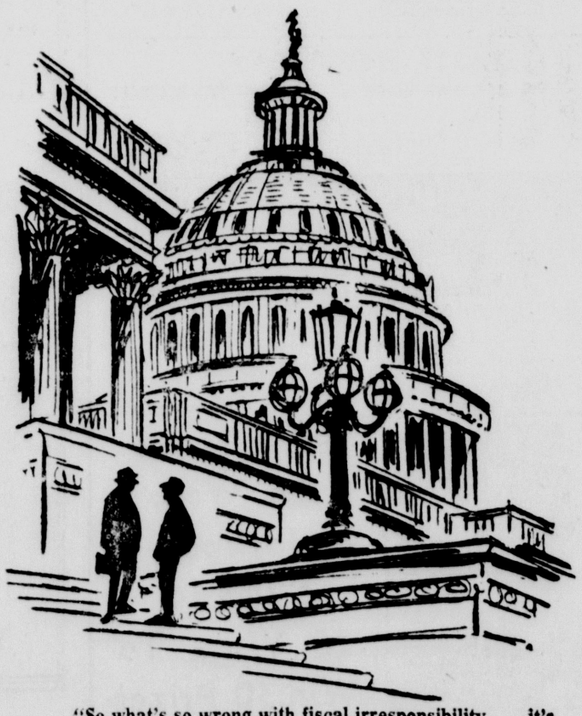

Attorney General Kennedy, against whom the maneuver was obviously directed, made a comment on it when he spoke last Thursday to a school of congressional candidates of the Democratic party who were assembled to get some instruction in political techniques for the coming campaign. He said:

"I must confess I stand in awe of you. You are not members of the Cabinet, and you don't meet regularly with the cabinet, and therefore you are eligible for vice president."

THE ATTORNEY GENERAL added that a lot of people had come to him asking whether he felt sad or glad. He said: "I sent a note to the various other Cabinet members and said that my one great regret was that I've taken so many other nice fellows over the side with me."

Many newspapers printed a wire report which inadvertently omitted the word "other" in quoting Mr. Kennedy's remarks. But the recording presented on TV told the audience that the attorney general, mindful of the quality doctrines of the day, properly included himself in the "nice fellows" group.

Whether all this was intended as sarcasm or just an expression of good humor, it has had a sequel. After Mr. Johnson at a press conference said that he would welcome into the vice-presidential race a whole gamut of able governors, senators and representatives, as well as mayors and other public men, outside the Cabinet, Attorney General Kennedy is reported to have decided to run for the U.S. Senate from New York State. Maybe he hopes that, if elected Senator, he might thus have in 1968 a chance to be nominated not just for vice president, but for president. Then he, too, could pick his own vice president.

"So what's so wrong with fiscal irresponsibility . . . it's been good to you, hasn't it?"

Negroes' Kennedy Center

By FRANCIS SUGURE

Harlem riot or no Harlem riot, the doors of the Lt. Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Memorial Community Center located in the heart of the Negro ghetto have been open every day.

Hundreds of young Negroes streamed through the doors to give their energy to play games, to attend classes in Negro history and learn of its heroes, to take advantage of the chance to air their gripes to sympathetic ears, and — in the case of the smaller children — to receive words of comfort to ease their fears about the violence they don't understand.

"There have been no dropouts because of the riot," said the Very Rev. Gregory L. Mooney, director of the Kennedy Center, which is owned and operated by New York Catholic Charities at 34 W. 134th st.

THE CENTER was named for the late President Kennedy's brother, who was killed in World War II. "We have about 340 children from 9 years to 12 coming in the morning and afternoon and about 250 teen - agers in the evening," Msgr. Mooey said. "I can't be discouraged. It's impossible for me to think that in time we can't do something. We must remember we are at the very beginning of a phase in history.

"We will continue to be a part of this community. We are beginning to train the young people to participate in a constructive and legal way in the civil rights movement."

Msgr. Mooney may be as broad as he is tall, but he will stand on a desk if necessary to be seen and counted as one who is behind the Negroe's fight for civil rights.

He does not see the center merely as a place to keep kids off the street or as a gymnasium for basketball, but "an agency that will support the freedom movement as it expresses itself in legitimate objectives by participating, encouraging, and explaining it to young people."

It's the teen-age counselors who really impress you at the Kennedy place, for as the center is dedicated to the Negro youth, so are three young people dedicated to the younger children who represented the hope of the Negro who wants rights without riots.

There is a 19-year-old girl named Perditha Jones, who spent the day with her group of 22 10-year-olds, teaching them to swim, play basketball, and telling them the story of the Negro who was a part of Columbus' crew. But later that day she was standing on the corner of 143rd and Lenox Ave., and the picture changed.

The cops jumped out of their PD cars and started shooting in the air," she recalled. "They said someone was throwing things from the roofs, but no one was throwing things then. A cop jumped out of a car and hit a friend of mine who was just standing there. He hit him in the mouth with a stick and my friend panicked and wanted to fight back, but you couldn't do this against a cop, so I led him away to his home . . .

"Most of the girls who came to me are scared about what is going on. The mother of one girl was accidentally wounded by a policeman's gun. Another mother sprained her ankle running away. I tell them stay out of the streets, and don't talk back to the cops, because it isn't right to talk back to the cops. Most of the time the cops are right, but they are overdoing it with their guns and sticks."

EACH OF THESE teenage counselors — and each in his or her own way — is trying to make the younger Negro children proud of their race, determined and confident of their rights, but aware of the folly of violence.

"These riots don't accomplish a thing," Said William Washington, 17, who will be going to Bronx Community College next year. "They are run by bums who are breaking into stores and dumb, reckless teenagers who want to have fun.

"The Negro leaders are not in this. Perhaps there are left-wing organizations. This is organized garbage.

Congress Okays Most Of LBJ's 'Must' Bills

By MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is giving President Johnson a substantial share of the legislation he asked for under a "must- pass" label.

How much of the rest of it he will get before Congress winds up its 1964 session remains to be seen. It apparently will be a man-sized proportion.

However, in at least some danger in these closing weeks of the session are his programs for medical care for the aged and increased Social Security benefits. Some well informed sources say he may have to choose between the two. They concede he could wind up with neither.

They already have written off as "dead" for this year his wage policy program for industry, including a proposal for double pay for overtime. They also see a "very doubtful" future this year for a liberalizing overhaul of the immigration laws requested by the President.

With some give and take, his forces expect to get most of the rest of his program into the books, and are prepared to make a bragging point of this in the presidential campaign.

Tops on the program already written into law, of course, are the 1964 Civil Rights Act and the $11.5 billion tax cut, plus an extension of excise taxes totaling $1.9 billion a year.

Congress also boosted the legal maximum national debt limit from $315 billion to $324 billion for one year as Johnson asked.

Among his major victories was enactment of a cotton-wheat farm aid bill. It established a new program permitting U.S. cotton textile mills to buy government-owned cotton at the same subsidy price as foreign producers, and a voluntary wheat price support program aimed at assuring $2 a bushel wheat.

Other feathers in the administration cap included:

Congressional approval of his program to protect wilderness spaces.

A start on a $3?? million, three-year program of grants to public bodies for the purchase of mass transit equipment, plus loan-guarantee authority.

The new pay increase for federal officials and employes.

Wider police powers for the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Continued support for the controversial space flight project to land American astronauts on the moon in this decade.

Still in various stages of congressional action, with his forces optimistic he will get most of all of what he asked for in the bills, are such measures as his:

"War on poverty" program, a $947 million project.

Proposed $455 million extension of the area redevelopment program, to aid chronically depressed regions.

$1 billion companion piece to help build the economy of the Appalachian region.

$375 million expanded food stamp plan to help the needy.

Extension of the National Defense Education Act.

Huge housing program, which has been shorn of some of controversial new features Johnson had requested.

START LOW FLIGHTS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Residents of communities within a 100 mile radius of Lockbourne Air Force Base near here may begin seeing low level training flights by members of the 317th Troop Carrier Wing.

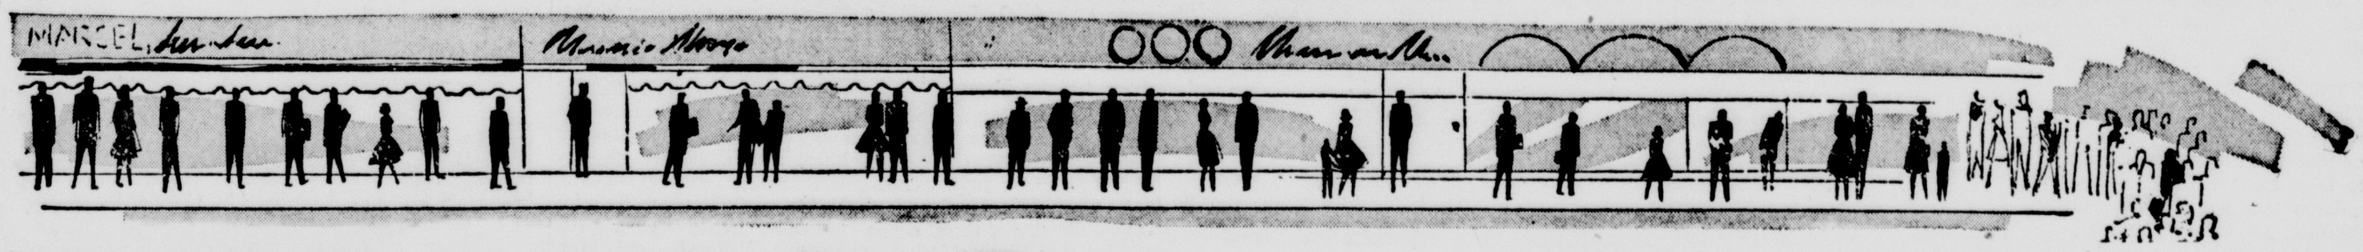

The flights, which will not necessarily be made every day, will be from 300 to 500 feet above ground during the day and 1,000 feet at night. Communities near the training flight route include Lancaster, Wellston, Long Bottom, Newcomerstown, Mount Vernon, Marion, Springfield, Washington Court House and Parkersburg, W. Va.

Lisbon Church In

Reports revealed that Trinity Friends Lisbon, an extension point for 12 years, was recognized as a monthly meeting at which Rev. Chester C. Stanley of Damascus, general superintendent of OYM; Rev. Escolme and Rev. Handy had a part. Kenneth Vollnogle and Mrs. Clarence Miller are presiding and recording clerks, respectively, of Trinity Friends.

An extension point is a new church, "mothered" by the YM. A monthly meeting is a church on its own. Under the leadership of Rev. Mark Headland, a former Salem boy, the Trinity Friends congregation has made some unusually good records.

LBJ's Letter Writing Has Been Curtailed

HONOLULU (AP) President Johnson's letter-writing habits have been curtailed since he took the nation's top office.

Charles J. Jones, 32, of Left Hand Canyon, Boulder, Colo., a student member of the fourth East-West Philosophers' Conference at the University of Hawaii, said he is a "first cousin once removed" of the President.

"His mother and my grandfather were brother and sister," Jones said.

Jones said the President writes him about once a month.

"While he was vice president, I used to get letters a couple of pages long. He still writes regularly, but just enough to say hello, now," Jones said.

MAN CAPTURED

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Ohio (AP)—David Jones, 31, sought in the shooting of his Columbus wife, was apprehended when sheriff's deputies forced in the door of an abandoned home just west of Morristown where he was hiding.

His wife, Erma, 34, was wounded in the thighs Sunday night at her brother's home in Columbus where she was staying at the time. Jones, a resident of the state of Delaware, had been the object of a day-long search before he was captured.

There are 1,027 different kinds of forest trees growing in the United States. This includes 78 species of "naturalized" trees brought in from other parts of the world which have made themselves so much at home that they are generally considered native.

A boy can still dream

A boy's dreams are as big as the sea and as wide as the horizon. And they're especially grand in America, for here a boy still has the freedom and opportunity to become whatever he wants to become.

Few people would openly deny a boy the privilege of his dreams. But some may do it inadvertently. For instance, those who say that the government should own this business or that business.

Our electric light and power industry is a case in point. Already the Federal Government has invested more than $5,000,000,000 (five billions) in electric systems. And some people want to spend more billions of taxpayers' dollars for Federally owned electric plants and lines.

Does that make sense? We here in your local electric company can supply plenty of electricity for businesses, homes or any other needs. We'll always be able to do that. And the same is true for more than 300 other investor-owned companies like us all over the nation.

Besides, with government ownership comes government control. And government control means the gradual loss of the freedom and opportunity we know today—the freedom of each individual to choose where he will work and live, and how he will think and dream.

Hints From Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise: When my youngster got bored with being indoors all day, I had a brainstorm. . . . I made a thin paste of flour and water, divided it into four bowls, put a few drops of food coloring in each bowl, mixed it, and the young one was all set for a painting session.

KAY RYAN.

Dear Kay: I mixed up your formula and it's great for painting with a brush.

Shelf paper or the back of wallpaper (buy broken rolls on sale!) is good, and also inexpensive, to paint on.

Colored finger paints can cooking a THICK starch and adding food coloring. Some people add oil of cloves to make it small good. This mixture may be put in jars, capped tightly, and refrigerated.

Or the best yet is to use wallpaper paste bought at a wallpaper store. (It's the cheapest in the long run.) Mix with water according to directions and then add your coloring. And have you ever tried adding vanilla instead of cloves? We usually have that in the house. Smells UMPHY.

And be sure to put lots of newspapers down before the kiddies start painting. But I guess all you mothers know that by now

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Whenever you have any hard to clean oily combs, just throw them in the wash bowl, sprinkle them liberally with baking soda, and cover with warm water.

After they have soaked for 15 minutes, rinse, and the combs are clean, sprkling, and sweet smelling.

R. N.

DEAR HELOISE: Instead of slicing tomatoes for the small fry, I cube them and they are much easier for the children to eat.

MILDRED.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: I read your terrific suggestion about putting a baby's high chair under the shower to get it clean without scrubbing it.

I dare to make your suggestion a smashing one: Why not put the chair under the shower with baby and all in it? The way my baby and chair look after a meal they both need it!

MOTHER OF THREE.

Ladies, this is a letter of laughter. She was only kidding!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I had a blouse which was so short that it kept pulling out of my skirt.

So I sewed a 4-inch strip of nylon net around the bottom of the blouse and now have no trouble keeping it in place.

The net is not bulky and clings well.

When using tracing paper to transfer a design to cloth, if you put a piece of fine sandpaper under the cloth (rough side against the cloth) it won't slip and you can trace your pattern more easily.

READER.

DEAR HELOISE: Here's a trick I picked up from the Hawaians to prevent garlic cloves from drying out.

Buy several bunches of garlic, peel all the cloves, put them in a small jar (baby food jars are excellnet), and pour in enough salad oil to cover all the cloves. They will never dry out — besides they are handy and already peeled and ready to use.

If you don't like much garlic flavor, just use a drop or two of this salad oil in whatever you are preparing. . .

Garlic will keep for ages this way.

MRS. ARTHUR PENN.

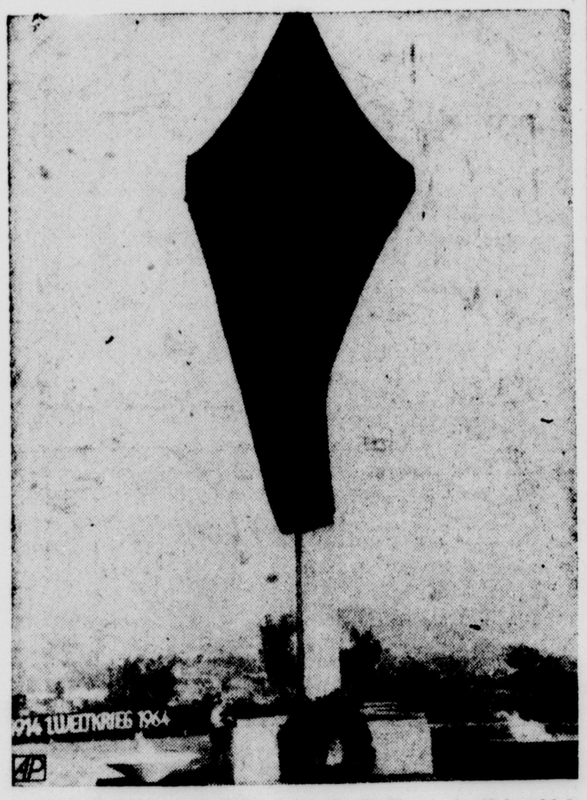

DEAR HELOISE: Your precious nylon net again. . . .

I use a piece of the net for washing fish, both inside and outside, before frying or freezing.

RUTH FASSETT.

Many Movie, TV Stars Fake Songs

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Roy Rogers and Dale Evans were rehearsing their guest - star parts in one of Andy Williams' forthcoming variety shows in an NBC sound stage recently.

As part of a big, colorful country-style production number, Roy was to ride on stage in a motor scooter, "My hairless horse," with Dale poised, side-saddle, on the seat behind. After a couple of swings around the stage and some dancing with the chorus boys, Dale climbed to a special elevated set. Then she launched into a song without a suggestion of breathlessness.

But, if a spectator sitting in the audience had taken his eyes off the stage and its activiy, he would have noticed that during the song, the members of the orchestra at the side of the stage were idly reading newspapers and dozing.

This fakery is a bit of routine filmland magic, a technique of lip synchronization or "lip-sync," which permits a movie star to warble like a nightingale, courtesy of some unseen soprano's vocal chords; gives the impression that those lines of chorus boy and girl dancers also can sing like the Salt Lkae City Mormon Tabernacle Choir and, most important, frees a performer from a microphone to frolic all over a stage.

The process involves technical skill. Singers and nonsingers must learn to mouth the words to give a convincing pantomime while the recording is being played. Most veterans handle it beautifully, although once in a while a sharp-eyed viewer will catch a slip-up.

Some performers, engrossed in other chores, have been known to forget the lyrics of the song they were supposed to be singing. As a bit of extra insurance, there is usually a fellow standing just outside camera range holding up cards on which the lyrics are in large print.

Realty Tax Funds Shared By Schools

School districts received over 81 per cent of the first advance of the August settlement of Columbiana County real estate taxes for the second half of 1963.

County auditor Kenneth Bell said the advance totaled $1,646,560. Checks were in the hands of subdivision clerks and treasurers Monday.

School districts received $1,341,370; cities and villages, $205,590; townships, $97,600; and Homeworth fire district, $2,000.

The first advance in the August settlement last year was not made until Aug. 27 and totaled $967,790.

Bell said the closing date of payment of taxes last year was Aug. 15 and less money was available advances than this year when the closing date was July 15.

A breakdown of the distribution follows:

ued reconnaissance flights.

U.N. headquarters said Turkish planes flew over an area south of the village of Alevga, near the scene of recent fighting, for 25 minutes this morning but did not open fire.

Only a few isolated gunshots were heard during the night as both Greek and Turkish Cypriots observed the truce, the U.N. said.

At the order of Secretary-General U Thant, the U.N. police force mobilized its limited manpower to prevent another outbreak of fighting along Cyprus' northwest coast.

Turkey said it would send its jets on scouting missions until the U.N. troops can enforce the truce and Greek Cypriots withdraw from positions they captured in the last six days.

The Turkish Air Force began its retaliation raids after the Greek Cypriots opened a drive Aug. 5 on the only remaining Turkish Cypriot coastal strip. The Cyprus government charges that Turkish troops and arms were being landed at the Turkish Cypriot fishing village of Kokkina.

The crisis left the government of Cyprus badly split, possibly impairing the political strength of Archbishop Makarios, Greek Cypriot president. Rightists and leftists in the cabinet exchanged angry words over whether to count on Greece or the Soviet Union for help, informants said.

Both factions were disappointed by the less than wholehearted support they received from Greece and the Soviet Union.

In Athens, Greek Premier George Papandreou indicated Monday night he does not look forward to a war over Cyprus with Turkey, Greece's eastern Mediterranean partner in the North Atlantic Treaty Organiation.

Greece took the view that Monday's attack by two Turkish F104 jets on the town of Polis may have been the result of a delay in transmission of orders to some Turkish air bases. The Greek Cypriots claimed 10 persons were wounded when the jets strafed the village square.

A Turkish government spokesman denied the planes had opened fire. He said they flew over Cyprus because the Greek Cypriots broke an unofficial truce by resuming their attack on Kokkina, about 10 miles east of Polis. He also said Greek Greece denied it.

The U.N. Security Council adopted a U.S.-British resolution calling for a halt in hostilities on Sunday. with only the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia abstaining. The fighting on Cyprus broke off temporarily shortly thereafter.

Turkish Premier Ismet Inonu sent a message to U Thant saying Turkey would obey the council's appeal, but he urged complete disarmament on Cyprus. In a similar note to NATO, Inonu said Turkish planes will not shoot or bomb the island but will continue reconnaissance flights "until the United Nations forces can effectively enforce the cease-fire and the withdrawal to pre-Aug. 5 positions."

In Nicosia, Makarios said his government would fully respect the Security Council's call for a cease-fire. He said the Greek Cypriots had stopped fighting on Saturday.

Newsmen who visited the string of villages attacked by the Turkish jets reported widespread destruction. Many townspeople remained in nearbly wooded hills, afraid the planes would return. A few farm animals roamed the quiet streets.

Repair Work Set By Library Board

The board of trustees of the Carnegie Public Library Monday authorized repairs to the paint on the walls and discussed the rehabilitation of the library's auditorium, now used for storage and other purposes.

Librarian Nellie Glass reported a surprising decline in fine money collected in July. Only $147 was taken in last month compared to $332 in June. The announcement of an increase in fines from two to three cents a day may have stimulated some lax borrowers, Miss Glass theorized, although the raise did not go into effect until this month.

She said 10,165 volumes were circulated in July, including 5,400 to adults and 4,765 to juveniles. Borrwers now total 7,605 and books, 50,561.

Present were Board President Walter Deming, secretary Miss Mary Bowman, Mrs. Guy Byers, Mrs. Bryce Kendall and Daniel E. Smith.

jor papal document saying Roman Catholicism will try for dialogue with all aspects of the modern world.

In his encyclical "Ecclesiam Suam," Pope Paul said Monday the paths of church consciousness of itself, church reform and church openness to the world lay before contemporary Catholicism.

Against a background of war threats in Cyprus and Viet Nam, the pontiff said in his encyclical he would be "ready to intervene, where an opportunity presents itself, in order to assist the contending parties to find honorable and fraternal solutions for their disputes."

Flags and bunting of papal white and gold hung from Orvieto's windows and walls to welcome the pontiff.

The cathedral is an outstanding example of Italian gothic style. Tradition has it that the building was started in 1285 at the request of Pope Urban IV to commemorate the "miracle of Bolsena."

Legend says that at nearby Bolsena in 1263, drops of blood miraculously appeared on an altar cloth before a priest who doubted the Church's teaching that the body and blood of Christ are really present in the bread and wine of the Eucharist.

Sheppard

Sheppard's constitutional rights were violated in his 1954 trial in Cleveland. The former Bay Village osteopath was convicted of second-degree murder in the bludgeon slaying of his wife, and sentenced to life imprisonment.

The state has appealed the federal court order and a hearing is set for October.

Dr. Classen mentioned the prison scuffle but Sheppard declined to comment on it.

He said only that he put himself "in traction" while in prison and added:

"I did chin bar work, using the weight of my legs to pull down on my back. The jerking had a traction effect. Some of the inmates helped me by giving me rubdowns."

In Columbus, Maury C. Koblentz, Ohio commissioner of corrections, said Sheppard's prison disciplinary records make no mention of a scuffle.

"However, that needn't have a negative connotation," said Koblentz. "It could have been a friendly scuffle."

Koblentz said he could find no record of a slipped disc six months ago on either the penitentiary or Marion Correctional Institution reports. He said Sheppard requested a bed board in August, 1963, and claimed he had a bad back.

Freeway

the 97-mile stretch will exceed $100 million.

The 50-mile section of Route 7 between East Liverpool and Bellaire, which will feed traffic onto the lake-river highway known officially as State Route 11 and connect with Interstate Routes 70 and 470, also is expected to be completed within five years, he continued.

The estimated cost of the four-lane section from the city limits to Route 170, including engineering and right-of-way, is estimated at $4,029,340.

Great Lakes Construction Co. of Cleveland was the general contractor at a contract price of $2,796,405 while right-of-way cost approximately $900,000 and the remainder went for engineering.

Wilson spoke briefly, noting the freeway will not only be a boon to motorists but will help the economic growth of the area.

WEST POINT—A small shed-type building located on Beagle Club Road about four miles southeast of here was destroyed by fire at 6:20 p.m. Monday.

Frick Will Remain As Baseball Commissioner During '65 Season

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Baseball's major leagues held a joint meeting Tuesday assured that Ford Frick will remain commissioner through the 1965 season and that selection of his successor will proceed in orderly fashion.

Frick, 69, announced last Wednesday he would not seek a new term and would step down from his $75,000-a-year post when his successor is named.

Following a meeting of the major league Executive Council Frick agreed, however, to stay on the job through the 1965 World Series.

The council decision to ask Frick to remain and his acceptance figures to shut off any unauthorized speculation as to the identity of the next baseball czar.

Top candidates for the job at present are Judge Robert Cannon of Milwaukee, legal counsel of the Players Association; Sen. Kenneth Keating, R - N.Y., former Vice President Richard Nixon, Supreme Court Justice Byron Whizzer White and Cronin.

Neither the American nor National League meetings Monday provided announcements of any magnitude.

The National League interrupted its meeting when Giles, with Milwaukee in mind, asked if any club desired to request consent to transfer its franchise.

When Giles received no response and in view of rumors that the Milwaukee Braves are headed for Atlanta, he asked Braves' representatives if they had any request to make. The answer was "No."

Giles then asked if Milwaukee has been or is considering a transfer. The Milwaukee representatives replied that because of many factors to be considered they were unable to evaluate fully their position until a later date.

The National League approved an umpire pension plan which had been orally agreed upon in New York July 6.

An umpire will receive $300 a year for each year of active service after his retirement. Retirement age is 55, but it is not mandatory.

The major league television committee announced plans have been completed for Monday night baseball telecasts next year.

The majors will offer a nationally televised night game every Monday night, with no blackout areas.

Two games will be scheduled every Monday night, the first to be televised and the second as a standby in case of adverse weather.

All 20 clubs agreed to let the committee conduct negotiations. All of the clubs would share equally in the proceeds. Negotiations will begin in 30 days after advertisers, sponsors and networks have been contacted.

The American League approved the Los Angeles Angels move to Anaheim, Calif., beginning in 1966. The action was a formality since Angel President Bob Reynolds signed a 35-year lease last Saturday for the club to play in a new stadium to be built about 25 miles from Chavez Ravine.

Coach McPeak Says Washington Is Going To Win NFL Title

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

CARLISLE, Pa. (AP) — Bill McPeak breaks all the rules for football coaches. He steps right out front and says he thinks his Washington Redskins are going to win.

"If we can keep our quarterback in one piece, we can take it all," said the coach-general manager of the "Skins" at the training base at Dickinson College. "I don't know how good he was until we got him."

McPeak was talking about Sonny Jurgensen, the quarterback he got from Philadelphia in a trade for Norm Snead, his former protege. At the moment, Jurgy can walk on water as far as McPeak is concerned.

Of course, walking is all Jurgy can do at the moment, since he is out for some 10 days with an injured knee, but the quarterback is expected to be fit for the opener on Sept. 13 against the tough Browns.

"I think the Eastern Conference will be a hodge podge," said McPeak.

McPeak counts on Sam Huff, the ex-New York Giant, to steady his defense just as he expects Jurgensen to lead the offense.

"We've never had a linebacker like Huff," said McPeak. "Sam is full of vinegar and he wants to do well. He was pleasantly surprised at the caliber of our defensive line."

The Skins' attack will hinge on Jurgensen's passes, primarily to flanker Bobby Mitchell and Angelo Coia, the speedy new split end acquired from the Chicago Bears.

The running game depends on Charley Taylor of Arizona State, who wasn't able to join the club until this week because of the College All-Star game.

Tom (The Bomb) Tracy, trimmed down to 190 pounds, Billy Barnes and Don Bosseler are available. McPeak liked what he saw of rookie Dick Drummond in early camp. The fullback position is a scramble among Bosseler, Dave Francis, J.W. Lockett and rookie Gene Donaldson from Purdue.

The offensive line of tackles Riley Mattson and Frank O'Brien, guards Vince Promuto and John Nisby and center Fred Hageman is intact, with rookie Len Hauss of Georgia pushing Hageman. There are no solid reserves.

McPeak's big job has been to shore up the deep defense. The front four of John Paluck, Bob Toneff, Joe Rutgens and Ron Snidow is solid but the linebacking, except for Huff, is fluid. Bob Pellegrini and Rodd Breedlove may wind up at the corners.

Reno Still Leads Horseshoe Tourney

GREENVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Harold Reno of Sabina, Ohio, lost his second game of the tournament Monday night but still was two games ahead of the nearest challengers for the World Horseshoe Pitching Championship.

Reno, the 1962 champion, lost 50-28 to Ed Fishel of Neilton, Wash. Reno won his five other games of the night, however, to retain the lead with a 28 games won, 2 games lost record.

Behind Reno are Elmer Hohl of Wellesley, Ont., and Carl Steinfeldt of Rochester, N.Y., with 26-4.

Hohl and Steinfeldt each lost a game Monday night—Hohl to Ray Martin of Philo, Ill., and Steinfeldt to Glenn Riffle of Dayton, Ohio.

Other leaders include:

Curt Day, Frankfort, Ind., and Glen Henton, Maquoketa, Iowa, 25-5.

Defending champion John Monasmith, Yakima, Wash., 23-7.

Ten-time champion Ted Allen, Boulder, Colo., 22-8.

Paul Lattray, St. Louis, Mo., 21-9.

The final five games of the tournament will be pitched Tuesday night.

Tribe Starts Series With Angels Next

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Luis Tiant, who wasn't with the Indians when they last played Los Angeles, will try tonight to break the Angels' seven game winning streak over Cleveland in the opener of a two-game series.

Tiant, 4 - 1, has been the Tribe's steadiest starter since being called up from Portland June 26 and has been effective in relief as well. He'll oppose Bo Belinsky (9-7).

The Angels hold an 8-4 edge over the Indians in their season series, taking all three games here the last time the clubs met in mid-June.

But Cleveland is on a hot streak, having won 10 of its last 13 games.

The Tribe beat the Pirates, 5-2, in an exhibition game at Pittsburgh Monday night. Macon Lowe, a right hander from Cleveland's Charleston farm club in the Class AA Eastern League, allowed just one hit in four innings. He was followed by a Charleston teammate Hugh Howden, who was only slightly less effective.

Roy Kuhl, a catcher with the Tribe's Burlington team of the Class A Carolina League, paced the nine-hit attack with three singles.

'My Greatest Sports Thrill'

Dietzel Got His Biggest From Louisiana's "Chinese Bandits"

By PAUL F. DIETZEL
(For the Associated Press)

My greatest sports thrill is pretty easy to pin down.

It encompasses a group known as the "Chinese Bandits."

The whole thing began many years ago in Cincinnati, where I was Sid Gillman's defensive line coach.

Our defensive group practiced on another field with all the rocks and brambles, and we were not allowed to associate with the "name athletes."

Just for fun I cut out a clipping which called the Chinese bandits the meanest and most vicious people in the world. This was a quote from Chopstick Joe, a very illustrious character drawn by Ohioan Milt Caniff in "Terry and the Pirates." We decided to be known as the Chinese Bandits.

The idea faded from my thoughts after I left Cincinnati in 1949, and as platoon days left college football.

In 1958 at Louisiana State we found we did not have enough athletes to play two two - way tems. However, we felt that if we could play one team both ways and platoon what was left offensively and defensively we might get by.

We picked our 11 best athletes and they were our starting unit or "white" team. From what was left after that, we picked the 11 best offensive players and they became known as the "go team" (an abbreviation of gold team). The teams were so named because the colors we wore in games were white and gold.

This is one of a series on "My Greatest Sports Thrill" written exclusively for The Associated Press by prominent Ohioans.

Paul F. Dietzel, author of the following, is head football coach of the Army team at West Point. A former Miami University athlete, he formerly coached at Miami, Cininnati and Louisiana State, being named national coach of the year while at LSU.

From what was left over we selected 11 defensive players. It was very natural that these would be the Chinese Bandits. Our squad wondered "what in the world is this Chinese Bandit routine?"

We tried the system in our opening game with Rice, and it worked out perfectly. In the next game the Bandits stopped Alabama, making them kick a field goal, and the Chinese were on their way.

Next, a disc jockey sent a Chinese chant which was played at the games. A local restaurateur donated 2,000 coolie hats to the first 2000 who asked for them, and he was so swamped he had to order 3,000 more.

The band played the Chinese chant each time the Bandits went in, and the fans waved their coolie hats as they cheered. The Bandits were now made.

They wanted to eat by themselves in the mess hall, and wear some kind of special emblem on their uniform. They really were not that good—but they did not know it. They actually played like wild men, and demonstrated the best gang tackling and pursuit I have ever seen.

As the season progressed they got steadily stronger and stronger. Throughout the year they allowed less than a yard per carry, while our starting team allowed almost three yards per carry.

Getting ready for the Sugar Bowl game, we pitted our three teams against each other—and the Bandits tore the other two limb from limb.

Our starting team and the "go' team were anxious to repeat the drill the next day, but if we had it would have been a much more vicious game than we could possibly have in the bowl, so we saw that it never came to pass.

The remarkable thing was that the so-called "third-stringers" had become the superior team—at least for that day.

This was very hrilling because it showed what a group of young men with fierce determination and a heck of a lot of fun can do in a football game.

That is why it is such a wonderful game—this game of football.

Yes, the Bandits gave me my greatest thrill.

Chicago Has Lost 10 In Row to Bombers

White Sox Start Important Series With Yankees Today

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago White Sox will have baseball's big yardstick — the law of averages — going for them today when they open Phase II of the American League's three-way pennant stretch at Yankee Stadium.

The White Sox will be looking for their first 1964 victory over New York but their 0-10 nosedive against the Yankees doesn't show up in the league standings. Chicago, having shrugged off the Yankee hex while building a fat 67-34 bulge against the rest of the league, is in second place, 12 percentage points behind front-running Baltimore and two points up on New York.

The Sox can't ignore the Yankees for the next four games, beginning with a day-night doubleheader today. But Al Lopez, who pays less heed to the law of averages than to his pitching staff's 2.79 earned run average, believes the defending champions are ready to be taken.

Lopez will send Joe Horlen, 8-7, 2.17 ERA, against the Yankees' Ralph Terry, 5-8, in this afternoon's opener. Juan Pizarro, the league's No. 1 southpaw with a 14-6 mark and 2.14 ERA, opposes New York's Jim Bouton, 12-9, at night.

The Chicago sharpshooters will face a Yankee team beset by injuries to its key men, Whitey Ford and Mickey Mantle.

The White Sox are healthy, though their offense is less than robust.

After the White Sox leave town, the Yankees have a three-game series at Baltimore and a four-game visit to Chicago.

The Orioles, meanwhile, have an opportunity to widen their lead in a three-game series against Boston, beginning tonight at Baltimore. Rookie sensation Wally Bunker, 12-3, will pitch for the league leaders against the Red Sox' Bob Heffner, 5-4. Detroit, working on a seven-game winning streak, visits Minnesota; Cleveland is at Los Angeles and Washington at Kansas City.

There were no AL games scheduled Monday. In National League night games, St. Louis nipped San Francisco 2-1, dropping the Giants three games behind league-leading Philadelphia, and third place Cincinnati whipped the Los Angeles Dodgers 7-2.

Despite Poor Showing, Collier Says Frank Ryan To Continue

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP)— "I'm not about to push any panic button," says coach Blanton Collier, whose Cleveland Browns lost their opening exhibition game to the San Francisco 49ers, 26-7 Sunday.

He was talking Monday about the dismal showing of quarterback Frank Ryan, who completed only seven of 19 passes for 93 yards and had one intercepted.

"It was a poor performance by Frank and I certainly am not happy about it," Collier said at Sanford University, where the Browns will train for four days.

"When a pitcher gets knocked out of the box it doesn't mean he won't be back out there in three or four days," Collier said. "That's the way I feel about Ryan.

"He's always been a slow starter. He looked so much better in practice this time than a year ago that I really thought he was ready. Frank just was not able to pick out a target. and hit it."

"I don't want to take anything away from the 49ers but they really didn't overpower us as you might think from the score," Collier said. "We hurt ourselves with errors and some of it came from the fact that we had new men on several of the teams.

Collier believes the Los Angeles Rams, whom the Browns play there next Saturday night, have a much stronger defensive line than San Francsico.

"They have a pretty good running game too," he adds.

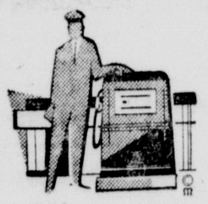

Cleveland came out of the game pretty healthy. The most serious injury seemed to be an ankle sprain by defensive back Larry Benz. Gary Collins suffered a gash on his hand when he ran into a camerman while trying to catch a passer.

Jim Brown was bothered by back pains before and during the game, but an examination indicated he should be ready for the Rams. There apparently is no muscle pull or tear.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: If you can solve this one you're a genius. The problem: Four children, two adults, one bathroom.

The girls, 15 and 17, usually get in first. They spend about 20 minutes (together) putting on makeup and combing each other's hair. This makes the boys, 12 and 10, furious.

Some mornings the boys get up early and try to beat their sisters into the bathroom. When they succeed the girls bang on the door and raise such a ruckus my husband (who doesn't have to go to work until noon) gets out of bed and adds to the bedlam by screaming at them.

I've begged my husband for a second bathroom but he says, "We had nine kids in OUR family and the bathroom was outside. We managed to grow up all right."

Please tell me what to do.—TIRED BLOOD.

Dear Tired: If it's any consolation to you, Madame, a house with four kids and one bathroom is usually happier than a house with four bathrooms and no children.

Hold a family conference. Tell the girls what time to go in — and what time to get out. Buy them a wall mirror so they can apply their makeup and comb their hair in the bedroom. Make it clear that if the girls don't go in on schedule they lose their place to the boys.

This should end the Battle of the Bathroom, which, incidentally is an old familiar all-American sport.

Good Time Charley

Dear Ann: For three years I dated a fellow I will call Charley. He was like a brother to me and there was no hint of romance between us. Charley never even kissed me in all the years we dated. On two occasions he told me about girls he was sweet on and I coached him on how to romance them.

Last night Charley brought me a ring and asked me to marry him. I was speechless. I told him I never had thought of him that way and I was shocked that he wanted to marry me.

Well, Ann, he broke down and cried. He offered to build me a home, buy me a car and make me his queen forever. He left with eyes as red as tomatoes and said he'd call me in a week.

I feel so sorry for him I could just die. He's a fine person but I can't see myself married to him. My mother says maybe I could learn to love him. She suggested that I write to you. Please help me.—NO WORDS.

-:-

Dear No Words: After three years of dating if the friendship hasn't caught fire, it never will.

A girl who marries a man because he cried (and she felt sorry for him) will surely wind up crying (and feeling sorry for herself).

Favorite of Five

Dear Ann: I'm the mother of five fine children. My husband's eldest sister is unmarried. Aunt Faye has a fine executive position and has invested her money wisely.

The problem is that Aunt Faye has been extremely fond of our eldest daughter, Rita, from the day she was born. Rita is 15 now and Aunt Faye has taken her on so many lovely trips that it is obvious to the rest of the children Rita is her favorite.

This is causing bitter resentment against Rita. The other children are becoming openly hostile toward her. What, if anything, should be done about it? — R B S

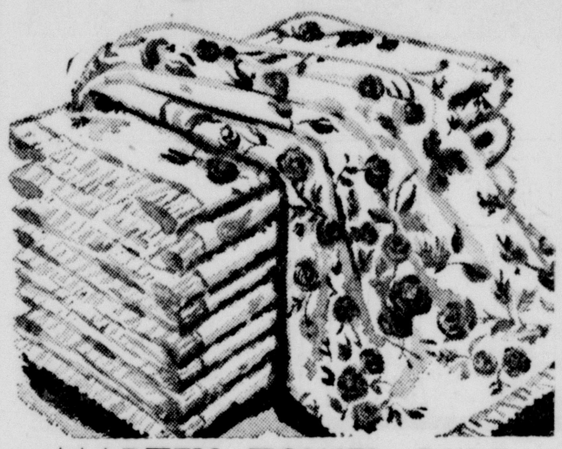

-:-

Dear R B S: Parents should not permit relatives to make a "pet" of one of their children. It breeds envy and hard feelings which could last forever. Insist that the favoritism be stopped at once.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

WITHDRAWS LICENSES

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The State Health Department has withdrawn license revocation action against 43 more nursing homes which have shown their electrical wiring now complies with special regulations adopted after last year's disastrous nursing home fire in Huron County.

The homes had been notified that their licenses would be revoked after inspections in March showed substandard wiring. Reinspections showed that corrections now have brought the nursing homes within compliance of the regulations. The fire at Fitchville last November killed 63 persons.

Painting Problem

By BOB HARING

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — One of the lesser joys of owning a home of your own is that sooner or later—probably sooner—it's going to need painting.

If your suburban tract includes half a dozen producing oil wells, a mother lode of uranium ore and the site for a new multimillion-dollar shopping center, this is no problem.

You just call the painter and tell him to re-do your house.

But if your circumstances are more modest—and perhaps more typical—with a mortgage, a car and whatever cash value might accrue to a wife, a cat and sundry other assets, you join the mighty army of do-it-yourself painters.

Now and then a neighbor no more affluent than you will announce grandly, "No painting for me this summer—I'm going to have it done."

But after he gets his free estimate and calculates that to pay the bill he'd have to give up beer and find an acceptable he'll join you at the paint store.

Not only must you decide what color to paint, but what kind of paint to buy.

Choosing colors involves consultation with the wife.

"I want the bathroom white," she says.

"No, you don't," you answer firmly. "You want if off-white. Plain white will make it look like a hospital emergency room."

"White," she decrees.

So white you paint. After you've splashed the last bit of gleaming white onto the floor — thank goodness it's tile and paint scrapes off easily — the wife comes in to observe and comments, "It's too white — it looks like a hospital."

So back to the store.

Even if you bought the color you both thought would look best, there's no guarantee, of course, that it will be right when you get it on the wall.

Nor is there any standardization of colors. One company's oyster white looks like another brand's pearl white but not at all like the second firm's oyster white.

And all of this overlooks the fact that nothing in your ordinary life—even the most dedicated schedule of golfing and the best office-desk posture — has prepared your muscles for perching atop a ladder or snaking along a floor splashing at unpaintable places.

All things considered, maybe the summer wouldn't be too bad without beer. And we might be able to freeload on relatives for a month or so.

History Today

Today is Tuesday, Aug. 11, the 224th day of 1964. There are 142 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1918 Washington announsed the organization of the first United States field army in France. I was placed under the direct command of Gen. John J. Pershing.

On this date

In 1862, the composer of "I Love You Truly" Carrie Jacobs Bond, was born.

In 1902, Oliver Wendell Holmes was appointed a justice of the Supreme Court.

In 1928, Herbert Hoover accepted the Republican presidential nomination.

In 1943, President Franklin D. Roosevelt and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill opened their first Quebec conference.

In 1945, the Allies told Japan its surrender offer was satisfactory.

Ten years ago . . . A squall capsized 70 racing sailboats off Marblehead, Mass., but a speedboat fleet rescued all aboard the sailing craft.

Five years ago . . . Queen Elizabeth cancelled plans for a tour of West Africa following the announcement she was expecting a child.

One year ago . . . Rewards totalling $728,000 were offered for the capture of the bandit gang which staged the great British train robbery.

Cadillac

THE WORLD'S FINEST USED CARS ARE BUILT BY CADILLAC.

To prove our point, we offer as evidence the three Cadillacs shown above.

From top to bottom in our illustration are a 1960 Sedan de Ville, a 1962 Coupe de Ville and a 1963 Sixty Special. Each is unmistakably Cadillac. Each, regardless of vintage, will have special appeal to the man who desires the comfort, convenience and pride of ownership that only Cadillac can offer.

That's why thousands of wise car buyers favor a previously owned Cadillac over new cars of other makes.

First of all, they realize that Cadillac engineering is so far advanced that "newness" becomes a relative term. In fact, there are features found on late model Cadillacs that are only now being offered on other cars. This is a major reason why a Cadillac retains its value through the years, from buyer to buyer.

Another thing to consider. Cadillac owners lavish the most meticulous care on the cars they are so proud to own. The "car of cars" almost always receives regular maintenance and servicing by highly skilled and carefully trained mechanics.

Your authorized Cadillac dealer's selection of one-owner models has never before been so appealing. And he can probably match one of these fine cars to your budget.

Who knows? Your used Cadillac could possibly be the "newest" car you've ever owned!
